RED AIR SURVEY BY LINDY RAPPED

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Former Prime Minister David Lloyd George today described Charles A. Lindbergh as "a very amiable and attractive man who was the agent and tool of much more astute and sinister men than himself."

Referring to information on the strength of the Soviet air force which the American aviator was reported to have given highly-placed Britons during the crisis last September, Lloyd George told the House of Commons:

"We shall never forget the Lindbergh episode. He was a very amiable and attractive man who was the agent and tool of much more astute and sinister men than himself.

"He went about from one member of Parliament to another saying he had been in Russia. He was in Russia, I think, about a fortnight. He had not seen any of the great leaders of Russia, he could not have seen much of the air force and he came back and told us the Russian army was no good, that Russian factories were in an awful mess.

"And there were many people who believed it—except Hitler."

Lloyd George reiterated his own opinion that Russia had "the finest air force in the world."

(Col. Lindbergh and his wife visited the Soviet Union Aug. 17-31, spending most of their time with Soviet airmen. He visited Moscow motor factories, experimental laboratories and witnessed the annual Russian air show, Aug. 18.

Find Hunger Striker Guilty in Killing

ENID, Okla., May 19 (AP)—Roy Murphy, 40-year-old farmer who staged a three weeks' hunger strike after he was charged with murdering his brother and sister-in-law, was convicted today for the brother's death. The verdict carried the death penalty.

Police Drag River for Boys' Bodies

HUNT MISSING BOYS—In an effort to uncover a possible clue to the disappearance of Joseph Bambucca and Robert Flattich, South End boys, metropolitan district police drag waters of the Charles river near the spot where the missing boys told friends they were going to do stunts. At right, Joseph Carter, Boston American reporter, and Joseph Bambucca, uncle of the missing boy survey the scene.

Hunt 2 Boys Feared Killed Doing Stunts

Police searchers today renewed exploring gloomy caissons in the West Boston bridge and dragging the waters of the Charles river, seeking bodies of two South End boys.

The youths, Robert Flattich, 13, of Village street, and Joseph Bumbaca, 17, of Corning street, have been missing since Wednesday morning.

Only hint to their possible tragic end was the story of two companions, Dominic and Carl Bumbaca, cousins of Joseph, that they saw the missing pair on Boston Common Wednesday night.

Joseph Bumbaca Robert Flattich

The boys had a length of clothesline and shouted gaily:

"We are on our way to the West Boston bridge to do stunts."

The rope was found on the third arch of the bridge.

Nervously watching police operations were Joseph's father, Rocco, and his uncle, Joseph. The father expressed doubt that the boys' bodies would be found in the river.

"Joseph was a good swimmer, and had a life saving certificate," he said.

The two relatives, though plainly worried, advanced the theory that the boys might have hitchhiked somewhere.

A crowd of about 200 hung over the bridge rail, following every move of the Metropolitan District Police dragging the river.

Boston, Cambridge and Metropolitan police started the search with floodlights and were joined by Boston firemen with scaling ladders.

Manhole entrances were opened and the searching party explored grim tunnnels and "pockets" for three hours without success. Others searched lofty girders for evidence the boys might have lost their grip and plunged into the waters.

CONSTITUTION MOVES

The Constitution has been moved farther away from the dry-dock area at Boston Navy Yard in Charlestown. Not stated specifically, the purpose is regarded as an effort to get the famous old ship out of the danger area in case sabotage is attempted on the four new destroyers now building there.

Dies Board Seeks Mystery Witness In 'Revolt' Probe

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The House Committee on Un-American Activities, confronted with testimony which fantastically linked an anti-Semitic campaign to fears of revolution, set out today to uncover the whole story and tell it to the public.

It issued subpoenas for George Van Horn Moseley, retired major general, three others mentioned in secret testimony yesterday, and ordered agents into a hunt for a mysterious waiter who witnesses have said circulated "inside" information he overheard in an exclusive New York club.

The subpoenas, directing appearance before the committee Monday, went also to John D. M. Hamilton, Republican national chairman; George Dealtherage of St. Albans, W. Va., chief of the White Knights of the Camellia and Felix McWhirter, Indianapolis banker.

The committee agreed to issue the subpoenas after deliberating 25 minutes in executive session.

"How many more will be issued no one knows," Chairman Dies (D.) of Texas, said.

HAMILTON NAMED

The committee will meet again Monday, in open session, he said, after its staff has had an opportunity to scrutinize yesterday's testimony.

Hamilton's name was brought up in testimony that he had, on request, supplied a list of the party's national committeemen to a man identified as active in the anti-Jewish campaign.

The Republican leader said he would be "very happy to appear," that his office supplied the list as a matter of routine. Saying that there was nothing in the letter to him which indicated any anti-Semetic activity, he added:

"If there had been, there would have been no correspondence on my part."

No witnesses were summoned before the committee at the morning meeting, but James Erwin Campbell, 42-year-old reserve army captain, at Owensboro, Ky., was on hand for questioning if needed.

SECRET REPORTS

Dies has told newsmen that Campbell had testified he sent certain "secret" reports to 40 persons. Committee investigators said Campell also had sent copies of speeches by Moseley to a mailing list of about 200.

Dies, recounting a secret, day-long examination of witnesses, said testimony showed the anti-Semetic campaign consisted chiefly in sending out highly inflammatory racial statements.

These documents purported to prove, he asserted, that a racial minority was plotting to overthrow the American form of government.

TELLS OF SEIZING GUNS IN REVERE

Three revolvers, two apparently discarded in haste, were found in the North Shore Club when troopers raided it on Washington's Birthday, 1937, one of the raiders testified today at the Revere gambling conspiracy trial.

Trooper Robert F. Bourbeau of Wrentham Barracks told Judge Allan G. Buttrick and the jury that he found two guns on the floor, near a wall.

He was with Sergeant George Alexander of the state police, Trooper Bourbeau said, when they found a third gun in the cash drawer in the club's office.

With the state's case expected to be concluded by nightfall, according to Assistant Attorney John S. Derham, throngs attempted to jam into the courtroom, eager to hear new "inside" details which might be uncovered concerning conditions in Revere.

Spectators, witnesses and lawyers alike had been electrified by John Malcolm McCauley, former Revere public welfare commissioner, testifying that a tip from a Chelsea court official warned Louis Gaeta, later slain, and others of a warrant for a state police raid on the North Shore Club.

Turmoil broke loose in the courtroom after McCauley's sensational discosure.

Speaking in a booming voice, McCauley asserted that he overheard a woman warning the "racket king" of the forthcoming raid Saturday noon, February 20, which was within minutes of the identical time a raid warrant was drawn up in greatest secrecy.

A few minutes before McCauley took the stand state police officials had described the precautions taken in securing the warrant. The EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 19 (AP)—Herbert Carnes, 45, World War veteran, telephoned police headquarters here this morning and said he had just murdered his wife, Police Chief James R. Crosby said.

Chief Crosby and other officers rushed to the Carnes home where they were met by the war veteran who led them to the kitchen and pointed to the body of his wife, Mrs. Lulu Carnes, 50.

Her head was smashed with an axe, Chief Crosby said.

Chief Crosby declared that in his phone call Carnes had said:

"I want a police escort. I've just murdered my wife."

Mrs. Carnes, an employe of the Davol Rubber Company of Providence, formerly was secretary to the late Walter Davol.

She and Carnes were married last August in Franklin, N. H.

They moved to East Providence at Christmas and neighbors said that immediately afterward a series of extensive changes costing nearly $4000 were made by the Carnes in their bungalow, inherited by Mrs. Carnes from an aunt.

Neighbors quoted Carnes as saying:

"I don't know what I'm going to do for money. I have to refinance my home. I had hoped to get a job at the Narragansett racetrack but that fell through."

Carnes for years before and after the war was a salesman in a sporting goods store in Providence.

Cheering Thousands Greet Royal Guests In Canadian Capital

By WALTER KIERNAN

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 19 (INS)—The capital of Canada welcomed its King and Queen today with a demonstration that even a fine drizzle of rain and sleet could not wash out.

The eight-mile route from Island Park where the royal rulers stepped from their palace-on-rails to government house, the residence of Governor-General and Lady Tweedsmuir, was lined with sodden but happy spectators.

Some had taken up their places five hours before the royal couple was due and were thoroughly drenched by the time the procession arrived.

SALUTES AND SMILES

Acknowledging the cheers with smiles and salutes, the royal couple arrived in the center of Ottawa in old world regal splendor, riding behind four spanking bays in the ancient coach of the governor-general.

Two outriders guided the horses at a smart trot while two smartly dressed footmen rodethe box of the ancient coach, redecorated for the occasion.

Original plans had called for use of the state coach but the rain brought a change to an automobile. However, lifting of the heavy skies for a brief few moments led their majesties to elect to ride in the open coach.

Police Race Over Roofs To Nab 2 Boys

Two 14-year-old boys gave a squad of Brighton police a neat little workout early today as the huffing and puffing bluecoats chased them over Commonwealth avenue rooftops in Allston.

It was after midnight when Patrolman William Earle of Brighton station was informed the boys were running over the rooftops.

Earle notified the station and a squad was sent to aid him.

The officers didn't go to the roof via skylight, but had the ladder truck from Harvard avenue sent over and they slimbed to the roof on a 50-foot ladder.

Tiger Kills Cook

Throws Ship Into Panic

GENOA, May 19 (AP)—Passengers and crew of the liner Buitenzorg, arriving from the Dutch East Indies today, told a tale of a death-dealing tiger loose on a ship at sea.

The beast, being transported to a zoo, broke out of his cage and got into the galley. A Chinese cook was clawed to death when he entered next morning.

The tiger sprang through a doorway at another cook whose cries and the beast's snarls threw the whole ship into alarm. Members of the crew and passengers fired several shots at the tiger.

The animal ran along the forward deck toward the prow and disappeared. For the rest of the voyage passengers were fearful it might be lurking in the hold.

A thorough search upon the ship's arrival failed to disclose it and they concluded it had fallen into the sea.

MARION TALLEY'S 'TRYST' TOLD TO COURT IN SECRET

NEW YORK, May 19 (INS)—Referee Richard P. Lydon today cleared the courtroom where Marion Talley is suing for custody of her four-year-old daughter, Susan, to permit testimony of an intimate nature before only the referee in presence of the little girl's parents.

Miss Talley, former grand opera star, is suing her husband, Adolph Eckstrom, from whom she is separated and in whom custody of the child is now lodged.

The request for clearance of the room was made by her counsel, John Keith, when Fred Sitterly of California took the stand to tell of visits made by Miss Talley to the home of AAubrey Scotto, former movie director.

ASKS THAT WIFE GO

Miss Talley had not yet finished her case and when Eckstrom's counsel, Frank Delancey, asked permission to call Sitterly out of turn, Keith rose to declare:

"There is going to be some unpleasant notoriety in the testimony of this witness. In the best interests of the child I think that only her parents should hear it. I ask that the courtroom be cleared, and I particularly ask that the witness' wife should leave."

The well-filled courtroom was emptied immediately by the referee's accession to Keith's request.

Marian Talley

Miss Talley previously had testified that she visited Scotto's apartment home only to hear records of her voice, often when his wife was present, and that he had driven her out.

IN TEARS

She broke down and wept while telling of an attempt to regain custody of the child, who was being kept in the home of Mrs. Ruth Nelson, her husband's aunt, in Mamaroneck.

"What did your daughter call Mrs. Nelson?" her counsel asked her.

"She called her 'Mother,'" Miss Talley sobbed.

HUB FOLK WINNERS IN IRISH SWEEPS DRAW

The golden tide of Irish Sweepstakes prizes once again swept the Atlantic toward New England today as huge drums started turning in Dublin's Mansion House and the draw for the 27th "sweeps" commenced.

First Bostonian to draw a ticket on a horse actually in the running was Samuel Millman, 85-year-old teacher of Hebrew, who came up with a chance on Major Brackey, a 40 to 1 shot.

Millman lives in the same house with three married daughters, a single daughter, and a son at 102 Intervale street, Roxbury.

"We can certainly use the money," said Mrs. Anna Cohen, one of the daughters. "None of us is making much just now."

Her father, she said, has been ill recently, and is unable to leave the house.

"Of course, it's papa's ticket, but he won't forget his family, he never has," she added, then asked how much the ticket might win.

Told that if Major Brackey romps home ahead of the field, the Millmans would come in for $150,000, she gasped. The ticket is bound to bring in $1857, the minimum prize for drawing a horse.

Twenty-nine probable starters in the Epsom Derby, to be run next Wednesday, will compete for major prizes consisting of nine $150,000 awards, nine second prizes at $75,000 and nine third prizes of $50,000.

BETTING ODDS

In addition, there will be 50 residual cash prizes of $5160 each.

As the draw commenced, latest call over favorites in betting was:

Blue Peter, 5 to 2; Hypnotist, 17 to 2; Admiral's Walk, 100 to 9; Heliopolis and Fair Stone, each 100 to 8; Trig Hero, 13 to 1; Fox Club, 100 to 7; Casanova, 23 to 1; Remco 2nd and Buxton, each 25 to 1; Hastings, 28 to 1; Ortis, Salford 2nd, Vesperian and Atout Maitre, each 33 to 1.

Other favorites were Major Brackey, Wheatland, Fairfax and Bellman, each 40 to 1; Rugerstone Castle, Mauna Kea and King Legend, each 50 to 1. Other horses, 60 to 1.

FOILS WELL MIXED

For two days, counterfoils have been mixed in two giant pneumatic machines, especially designed by an Irish Hospital Trust engineer to make certain each scrap of paper has a chance of winning one of the prize.

Nearby is the trust organization's new building on the shores of Dublin Bay. Elaborate filing, indexing and checking systems of the trust are housed under one roof, where a large staff handles correspondence from all ends of the earth.

LUCKY ONES

Beauty Shop Pay Scale OK'd

The State Department of Labor and Industries announced today approval of a minimum wage schedule for beauty shop employes, over the protest of employers, who claimed the scale too high.

The department's minimum wage commission approved a minimum of $14.50 weekly for operators, manicurists, maids and appointment clerks, and $16.50* for hairdressers. The present minimum for both groups is $8. The schedule was similar to one previously approved and then resubmitted for further study after employers protested.

Charles H. Cole, chairman of the commission, said that before the new rates go into effect a public hearing would be held June 7.

Rare Surgery Saves Life of 'Jinx' Boy

An amazing feat of brain surgery, performed when other hope for his recovery had virtually been abandoned, seemed today to have saved the life of a nine-year-old Dedham boy.

RECOVERING at Carney Hospital, South Boston, from injuries received in fall from balcony, Malcolm Jackie Packer, 9, of Dedham, gets encouragement from his nurse, Mrs. Albert Doucette.

The little patient, Malcolm John Packer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Packer of Clark street, was unconscious and at death's door for 11 days at Carney Hospital.

He was suffering from a skull injury received in a 25-foot fall from a balcony at St. Mary's Church, Dedham.

GAMBLE WITH DEATH

As the boy grew weaker, day by day, surgeons and specialists of the hospital staff agreed that unless pressure on the brain was relieved the patient was doomed.

As a last resort, with odds estimated at 100-to-1 against success, Dr. Jost J. Michelsen agreed to perform a rare and difficult operation.

Watched by a breathless gathering of more than 50 of his professional associates, he kept the injured boy under the knife for three and one-half hours.

He opened the injured skull and operated directly on the brain, itself, with the patient's life hanging by a thread.

A slip of a thousandth of an inch and Jackie Packer would have died on the table. But Dr. Michelsen's hand was steady, his skill equal to the emergency.

FIGHT SEEMS WON

The operation was technically successful. Still to be determined, however, was the patient's ability to rally from the ordeal. Every resource of the hospital was mobilized in his behalf.

And science seemingly has won! Today, Jackie Packer was past the crisis. He was able to speak to his mother and the nurse. He was even able to pose for a Boston Evening American photographer.

"It's like a miracle," said Mrs. Packer.

She said this last accident, which so nearly cost her son's life, was his third serious mishap.

On his third birthday, May 13, 1930, he fell from a wall and fractured his shoulder.

In Brockton, in 1936, he was struck by an auto and was unconscious four days with concussion of the brain.

Accident No. 3 came nearest of all to being fatal. But the boy hugged a big bouquet of flowers at the hospital today and grinned cheerfully.

"Only trouble with me is I'm lazy," he said. "I'm always finding some excuse to stay in bed and be petted."

Hearing Date Set On Parking Protests

Because of increasing protests over the 7 to 9:30 a. m. parking ban in downtown Boston, a public hearing on the new traffic regulations will be held in police headquarters next Thursday morning, Traffic Commissioner William P. Hickey announced today.

Many wholesale merchants and salesmen have charged that the prohibition of parking injures business.

'Howlers' to Check On False Alarms

In an effort to check false alarms, Fire Chief William H. Hill of Belmont prepared today for the installation of "howlers" on all fire boxes in the town.

The whistles start up a whine which can be heard for a quarter of a mile whenever anyone pulls a fire alarm. They were tried out recently on eight boxes with success.

Transfusion for Boy, 'Golden Bug' Victim

CHESTER, Pa., May 19 (AP).—A transfusion by the "one person in a thousand" who could help him gave 12-year-old Jimmy Duffy, Jr., a chance today to recover from a rare blood stream infection—"golden bug." The Latin name for the germ means "gold."

The donor was Mrs. William Mullin, of Washington, who once recovered from the disease and whose blood type is the same as Jimmy's.

EX-POL'S SON, COPS IN BRAWL

The son of a former state official and a Boston police sergeant had their coats ripped to shreds, both of their faces were badly marked, while two-score persons fled a squad of police in a Jamaica Plain "beer club" brawl today.

The trouble climaxed a gay party as guests, many prominent in night life, made "whoopee" for hours with loud songs mingled with shouts and cheers.

Two police officers first arrived in a radio car to quiet the noisy party.

They were unable to cope with the battling guests and called for reinforcements.

Two more radio cars and a patrol wagon rushed to the "club," arousing residents in the district, which is near Forest Hills "El" station.

There, they said, they found bowling guests milling through the rooms. Police forced their way to the center of the disturbance to restore order.

The partying battlers quickly turned on the uniformed police and fists were swung freely as the brawl spread throughout the club.

8 Women Warned, Man Gambler Fined

Eight women card players were let off with a lecture in Roxbury court today, but a less fortunate man defendant, accused of taking number pool bets, was fined $300 and was given a six-months jail sentence.

The man, Samuel Solanch, 63, of Wyoming street, Roxbury, appealed. He was held in $100, personal recognizance.

The women were arrested in a police raid on an apartment in Walnut avenue, Roxbury, where they were said to be playing poker.

Complaints made by one or more husbands led to the prosecution, it was intimated.

Judge Samuel Ehrenzandt placed the cases on file, after reprimanding the defendants and warning them against further card playing.

The women arraigned included Mrs. Anna Martini, 42, of Wyoming street, Roxbury; Mrs. Jeannette Levin, 35, of Columbia road, Dorchester; Mrs. Sara Golden, 39, of Morton street, Dorchester; Mrs. Sadie Winston, 49, of Crawford street, Roxbury; Mrs. Anna Rothberg, 38, of Humboldt street, Roxbury; Mrs. Bella Zyles, Michigan avenue, Dorchester; Mrs. Sophie Cohen, Walnut avenue, Roxbury, and Miss Laura Marsh, 30, of Hartwell street, Dorchester.

Seized with seven other women in an alleged poker game in a Roxbury apartment, Miss Laura Marsh, 30, of Roxbury, gets assistance from a gentleman friend in attempt to dodge camera. Spared the cost of a $5 fine, in Roxbury court, the women promised to stay away from the apartment and poker.

'Death-Kiss Widow' Accused as Slayer

PHILADELPHIA, May 19 (AP)—A woman, arrested in New York yesterday after a long search for her as a "professional widow" in the eastern insurance-murder ring, was held without bail today for grand jury action on a murder charge.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt refused Rose Carina freedom on bail, but allowed it to three of her co-defendants pending further hearing.

Antonio Mastro, a barber, taken into custody with Mrs. Carina, was held for another hearing.

Investigators questioned Mrs. Carina, whom they called "The Death-Kiss Widow," all night.

Mrs. Carina displayed no emotion in court when Police Captain James A. Kelly accused her of the poison death of Pietro Stea, her "former common-law husband."

PROBE DEAFMUTE'S DEATH

Kelly said chemists found poison in Stea's body when it was exhumed and that he was one of three of Mrs. Carina's husbands who died under circumstances as suspicious as many of the 50 other deaths charged to the slay-for-pay ring.

Joseph Peppe was held in $25,000 bail for further questioning after Kelly testified he might be linked with the death of a deaf-mute sister. Kelly asserted there had been a substitution of insurance policies on the girl's life. He said her body would be exhumed.

MAY EXHUME BOY'S BODY

Mrs. Mary Gagliardi, "fortune teller," and Mrs. Dora Sherman, widow of a man whose body was exhumed, were held in bail for hearing June 2. Coroner Charles H. Hersch said Sherman's body showed no trace of poison.

A possibility the mass-murder syndicate still might be functioning developed today with announcement by Coroner Hersch that he had ordered exhumation of the body of an Italian boy who died recently.

BACKUS DECISION IS DUE TONIGHT

An end of the long and involved hearing in the case of John H. Backus, head of the Blue Sky division of the Public Utilities Commission, was scheduled for today.

Final arguments were to be made by counsel for the commission and Joseph Scolponeti, who appeared for the accused official. Decision may come tonight.

Governor Saltonstall wants Backus, a friend of James M. Curley, ousted from his position. Various charges have been levelled against him.

In the last day of actual testimony, there were frequent clashes between Scolponeti and the commission members, who are trying the issue.

Scolponeti repeatedly flung bitter charges at commission members and against Daniel Lynch, secretary to the governor, who was called as a witness during yesterday's session.

Backus is charged by the governor with "impugning" his integrity by allegedly stating Harcourt Amory, investment banker and G. O. P. leader, "fathered" recommendation of the governor to abolish the Blue Sky Division as an "economy move."

A second charge alleges Backus "lied" to the governor in denying the statements attributed to him.

F. D. R. BANS STABILIZATION FUND FOR SPEND-LEND PUSH

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt, discussing reports that a new spending-lending program was being studied in some administration quarters, expressed emphatic opposition today to using any part of the $2,000,000 stabilization fund to finance aids to business.

Questions regarding the reports were raised at the President's press conference. He said he had never heard that a new spending-lending plan was under consideration.

When it was brought out that the heart of this plan provided for utilizing part of the stabilization fund to finance new federal helps to business, such as purchases of railroad equipment, President Roosevelt said he was opposed to monkeying with the fund.

Regarding other matters bearing President said a Securities Commission report to Congress on investment trusts would be submitted by him without recommendation.

WEIGH PROGRAM

He also reported that he had not yet scheduled further conferences with congressional or Treasury tax experts on proposed revision of the corporate tax structure. He met at length with them last Monday.

The spending-lending program has not taken definite form, it was learned in informed quarters, but is being put in shape for submission to the President and possibly transmission to Congress.

CUT LOAN RATES

As tentatively outlined, it would include:

Release of $1,500,000,000 of the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and use of the money to finance a nationwide home building program.

Establishment of new federal machinery for loans.

PLAN UTILITY LOANS

Liberalization of social security benefits, with discussion centering on old-age pensions.

Government insurance of loans for utility construction.

Reduction of the 3 per cent interest rate on construction loans.

Government purchase of new railroad equipment.

Sues Somerville For Old Age Aid

The city of Somerville was haled into the State Supreme Court today by a 65-year-old man who demanded payment of old-age assistance.

Pasqual F. Arzillo, of 728 Broadway, West Somerville, asked for a writ of mandamus against the Somerville board of public welfare for refusing to carry out the order of the state board of old age appeal.

Denied old age assistance by the local board, Arzillo went to the state board where his appeal was allowed. But the Somerville welfare department refused to make any old age payment, claiming that their investigation did not warrant payment.

Arzillo's case, one of the strangest in Massachusetts legal history, is a precedent case, involving hundreds of old age cases in other cities and towns.

MOVIES OF LARYNX

Adaptation of an ordinary home movie camera to take color pictures of the human larynx in action was revealed today by three members of the Boston University Medical School faculty.

The new discovery permits study of diseased or cancerous conditions of the larynx and may pave the way for similar photographic studies of the lungs and other internal organs.

A special adapter permits a home movie camera to be attached to a laryngoscope. Special bulbs bathe the larynx in light while pictures are taken.

Inventors of the process—Drs. Adrian Solo, Nathan L. Filleberg and George Levene—consider the apparatus simpler and more practical than a similar device developed by Dr. Joel Pressman of Hollywood, Cal., husband of Claudette Colbert, film star.

Red 'Rummy' Noses Not Due to Alcohol

ST. LOUIS, May 19 (AP)—There are a dozen kinds of red "rummy noses" with as many shades of color and not one of them is due to alcohol.

This medical fact is demonstrated in a new way at the scientific exhibit of the American Medical Association by Dr. George Schwartz of Boston City Hospital, a resident of Malden, Mass.

Dr. Schwartz, for the first time in medical history, has adapted color photography to skin diseases. There are more than 100 of these human afflictions, a few of them both incurable and fatal. His pictures show more than half of all the varieties.

The correct diagnosis of most of these diseases depends almost entirely on shades of color, all reds. The tones are from brown and copper, through pink to purple and bluish tints. The noses are among the exhibits. Some tend to imitate strawberries, but their shades are mainly of the blue and purple orders.

The delegates re-elected Dr. Roger I. Lee of Boston as a member of the association's board of trustees.

Charges that birth control is filled with confusion of thought and purpose, with hysteria and exaggeration, were made by Dr. George W. Kosmak, of New York, editor of the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

He concluded that the contraceptives available are not always sure, many are dangerous, and that physicians have taken too little responsibility.

"SAFE" PERIODS

There are no longer, he said, enough births to replace the population, and the ideas about birth control are partly responsible.

He recited in detail all the classes of contraceptives, indicating that some restraint is necessary to insure that the best of them work. He pointed to the dangers of poisoning and injury from some types.

The most recent and popular of all methods, the rhythm, or "safe period," he said is uncertain. Undoubtedly, he explained, there are some women with safe periods, but there are many exceptions and these are not well understood yet.

Both physical and emotional situations, he said, may throw the rhythm out of balance for some people.

Use of X-rays, and of spermatoxins, a method under experiment in Russia and England, has given too little satisfactory knowledge to warrant consideration in general practice, he declared.

Hit-Run Death Suspect Held

Alleged to have been the driver of a hit-and-run auto which killed a Brighton man Saturday as he was on his way to a Mother's Day reunion, Edward M. Murphy, 49, of Searle avenue, Brookline, was held in $2500 today.

He was arraigned in Brighton court on charges of manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident, speeding, driving so as to endanger the public and failing to slow down for a pedestrian. Pleading not guilty on all counts, Murphy was granted a continuance until May 26.

The hit-run victim was David W. Flanburgh, 49, of Sanderson place, Brighton. He was killed as he waited on Market street, Brighton, for a bus which was to take him to his mother's home in Marlboro.

Witnesses took the registration number of the car, which police later found, they said, in a Brookline garage.

Salute to Hoover Jars Precision Clocks

NEW YORK, May 19 (INS)—Two weeks of painstaking work to adjust the two precision clocks in the Elgin Watch Company building at the World's Fair to absolute accuracy were ruined yesterday by the 21-gun salute accorded former President Herbert Hoover, it was revealed today. The clocks were thrown all of 1-8000 of a second off true accuracy. It will take 24 hours of adjusting to get them back.

Bates Song Vote Ends in Discord

LEWISTON, Me., May 19—"Alma Mater," the college song of Bates, has lost its grip on the male undergraduates. A vote taken here showed the men students 10 to 7 in favor of a change.

In the same ratio the girls voted for keeping it. The whole thing originated when Harold Roth, a senior from Boston, condemned it as a drinking song.

Girl Clears Doctor; Sent to Jail Herself

Dramatically avowing her love for a physician defendant she had accused before the grand jury, a 19-year-old girl witness took the stand in Middlesex superior court today and completely repudiated her previous testimony.

She won acquittal for the doctor—but was herself promptly arrested and jailed on presumption of perjury!

Judge Wilford D. Gray ordered her held in $10,000, double surety.

DEFENDANTS COLLAPSE

The freed physician, Dr. Harry N. Levin, 36, of Beach street, Malden, had been on trial charged with being accessory to illegal surgery, allegedly performed on the 19 witness, Miss Barbara L. Brown of Franklin street, Melrose.

Two other defendants, accused of having erformed the operation, were found guilty. Both collapsed in the courtroom.

One of them, Dr. John E. Vassalo, 58, of Main street, Malden, suffered a heart attack and was carried to an anteroom, where he was later revived.

The other, Miss Rowena Wheeler, 35, a nurse at Chelsea Memorial Hospital, succumbed to a hysterical fit of weeping.

ADMITS LOVE FOR DOCTOR

Their cases were continued to Monday for sentence.

Miss Brown's dramatic repudiation of her earlier story accusing Dr. Levin came as a surprise to spectators, prosecutor and judge.

"I had to say what I did before the grand jury," the girl testified. "My father threatened to have me locked in jail unless I put the blame on Dr. Levin.

"That is why I said that Dr. Levin was responsible for my condition and that he had sent me to Dr. Vassalo. But it wasn't true. None of it was true."

Sternly cross-examined by Judge Gray, Miss Brown admitted her love for Dr. Levin.

"I've been tortured ever since I told those lies about him," she testified. "I made up my mind to tell the truth in court here and clear his good name and reputation, no matter what might happen to me."

Norwood Crash Kills Youth

En route to Suffolk Downs, where he and a companion were to report as exercise boys for the J. Y. Christmas racing stable, 19-year-old Conway O. Wyncoop of Towson, Md., was killed in an auto crash in Norwood today.

The youth with him, Samuel Cranford, 21, of Upper Marlboro, Md., suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was reported near death at Norwood Hospital.

Police said a small coupe, in which the boys were riding, skidded off the highway and hit a tree. The top of the machine had to be chopped open to extricate the victims.

Expect Meat Prices To Show Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—American consumers will have the largest supply of pork and hog products at their disposal this summer since the 1934 drouth caused a sharp reduction in livestock production.

Agriculture Department officials said today consumers should be able to buy such meat products at the lowest prices in nearly five years.

Opera Talent Best In U. S., Says Expert

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—American opera singers suffer from a vast inferior complex in judging domestic talent, Louis Gudevsky said today, although we have the finest singers, orchestras and conductors in the world.

"English was good enough for Shakespeare, Keats and quite a few like that it ought to be good enough for Wagner and Verdi."

There are two ways of listening to opera he added. "One way would be your eyes and soak up the lovely sounds. The other you listen with your eyes and ears open understanding every word and every inflection. The last is not the American way.

American audiences can judge perfectly the singing and instrumental accompaniments, so here we have the finest singers, the finest orchestras and conductors in the world. But they cannot judge any of the other things that go into opera, so that in every other way we have the worst operatic performances in the world."

Britain Asks Nazis For 'Peace Pledge'

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain offered today a lay down a definite long-range policy for European peace if Germany would renounce in a convincing way the "intention of aggression or the further use of force" in her relations with other countries.

Speaking on foreign affairs debate in Commons, Chamberlain said, however, that Britain was "not prepared to buy peace with concessions which would only lead to further demands."

He was replying to David Lloyd George, who came to the minister, who had demanded speedy conclusion of an alliance with Soviet Russia, and [illegible] Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition who had urged a war front for peace.

Chamberlain said he found the German [illegible] was on [illegible] responsible for a lack of faith in its assertion of non aggressive intentions, and added:

"If we could have such a renunciation (of aggressive aims), if we could have the conviction that there was no intention of aggression or the further use of force in the relations between Germany and other countries, then I think we would find we would not be backward in stating what is our view of the lines on which we would discuss the terms of a permanent peace."

Though he said Germany's demands for her war lost colonies undoubtedly would be involved in such a peace he said that would not mean Britain "will refuse to discuss any method by which we can solve, reasonably, [illegible]."

Palestine Jews Defy British, Map Plan for Boycott

JERUSALEM, May 19 (AP)—Palestine's aroused Jewry reported today to a passive resistance campaign, to non-cooperation and economic pressure attempting to thwart British plans to set up an Arab state in the Holy Land with Jews in the minority.

Mass demonstrations that followed announcement of Britain's new [illegible] Wednesday night [illegible] Britain's Palestine [illegible] capitulation.

PLAN FOR BOYCOTT

Observers expected [illegible] incidents likely to lead to [illegible] Britain's Palestine [illegible]

[illegible] Refusal to buy British goods with intensification of production and purchase of local products.

Encouragement of Jewish members of municipal councils in all mixed municipalities to refuse to participate in the governments.

Encouragement of Jews to refuse payment of the usual municipal taxes and instead to contribute to the financing of the Jewish resistance.

HUB JEWS IN PROTEST

A protest meeting of Jews and Christians will be held in Faneuil Hall Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock to register objection to the plan of the British government to turn Palestine back to the Arabs.

Governor Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin are to be speakers.

Yesterday Gov. Saltonstall sent the following telegram to Rabbi Joseph Shevitchek, President of the Council of Orthodox Rabbis:

"Together with thousands of other citizens of Massachusetts, of all races and creeds, I shall add my wishes to the prayers of the Jewish people next Monday that catastrophe may be averted in Palestine.

"The building of a Jewish homeland was remarkable as one of the few positive and constructive efforts being made by the human race in a world gone mad with tyranny and intolerance. This effort must not fail.

"Let us all pray that the nations concerned will heed the world-wide plea for a just settlement of the crisis."

Wood's Resignation Not Due to Deal Row

Goodnight Kiss, Then Face Slapped, Says French Star

Having [illegible] in many of the [illegible] of the world and being by nature an observant person, Yvonne Bouvier, exquisite French singer who was one of the [illegible] "The Streets of Paris," new revue which has its world premiere at the Shubert Theater Monday evening, May 29, has learned a thing or two about the way of mankind—especially man.

Italian men?

"You cannot kiss them and then say goodnight," is Miss Bouvier's contention. "If you do, they slap your face. I remember once walking in the moonlight with a boy in Rome. The night was gorgeous. It made one feel glad to be alive. I kissed him goodnight. There are kisses and kisses, but this one was for to say goodnight. He got so mad he slapped me face. Very hard, too. After that, I learn."

Next on the list is her fellow countryman. The Frenchman, the hero of verse and [illegible]

"The Frenchman? He likes to take his time. Plenty. He is making the scene, and he likes to have flowers and the moonlight. And soft music, too. If he can get it. He will take you out for five or six weeks. Very patient like. Then—well, there is no platonic friendship between man and woman in France. Everything there is built for excitement."

Following this the Englishman [illegible] Rumors [illegible] for quite a while that the Englishman is [illegible]

"But only to English women," comments Miss Bouvier, "because there are so few pretty ones. And the English women who are pretty aren't the type that get men upset. But if you think the Englishmen are cold by nature just come to Paris and ask any of the pretty little chicks on the boulevard."

Now comes the most important part of the discussion. The Americans.

"Your American man gets down to cases in a hurry, but he's good-natured and once you understand each other you can go out indefinitely and have a good, friendly time."

And there you have the observations of a graduate of the Folies Bergere, in which she starred. She will be making her debut in an American musical show when she appears in "The Streets of Paris."

Hollywood Paragraphs

By DOROTHY MANNERS

RKO is offering Robert Morley everything but Ginger Rogers to come back to Hollywood for "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," though not for the title role. He's being paged for the part Ernest Torrence created in the original version with Lon Chaney, and right now it looks very much as though he might accept.

No actor ever made a bigger hit in pictures and deserted them so fast as Morley. After his sensation as the none-too-bright Louis XVI in "Marie Antoinette," every producer in town offered him a contract. But he insisted on sticking to his stage contract for "Oscar Wilde," which by the way, has been one of the few real hits of the New York season.

Hollywood chatter: Orry-Kelly and Basil Rathbone reportedly broke up over the pairing of Gladys Perkins and Mr. Rathbone on the stage. But certainly those two did all in their power to make her last days happy and free of financial worries. The Rath Bones get off for Europe in August.

Rowland Stebbins has completed decorating plans for their new Tobuca house next door to Bing's.

JOLSON WINS LAURELS IN 'ROSE OF WASHINGTON SQUARE'

Al Sure Goes To Town in Film

By PEGGY DOYLE

As in the instance of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," the melody lingers on in "Rose of Washington Square," the new of Washington Square," the new Keith-Memorial screen feature, effecting a nostalgic pull that somewhat atones for the picture's lack of dramatic and acting values.

Of the three stars Alice Faye, Tyrone Power and Al Jolson it is the famous ragtime vocalist of the dead and gone twenties who steps up into first place with his vocal ability to recreate a period.

They gave Alice Faye "My Man" to sing. Fannie Brice made it famous. Alice just does so with it, leaving the field to the Mammy-singer who returns to the screen after a prolonged absence to find a very warm welcome awaiting him.

Jolson's current repertoire is practically a repeat of the songs that won him fame "Ja-Da," "I'm Just Wild About Harry," "Toot, Toot, Tootsie, Goodbye," "I'm Sorry I Made You Cry," "Mammy," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "Avalon" and "California, Here I Come."

Swinging down Memory Lane with Jolson is the pleasant part of "Rose of Washington Square," which is the story of a Ziegfeld star who married a handsome heel (Alice Faye and Tyrone Power to you) and remains loyal to him through disgrace and imprisonment.

Jolson, playing himself is the girl's doting stage partner who loves and loses her.

Power, as the semi-demi hero who has a string of beads for a spine, is not at his best in a minor Jekyll-Hyde role that has been imperfectly developed. Miss Faye, though her heart is fairly broken over the defections of "My Man," maintains a cheery, rosy-cheeked attitude throughout, failing to convince you that any of this means anything to her. It is Jolson who really goes to town, putting the pizzazz into songs now in their second-childhood.

"Rose of Washington Square," is really the story of a period in song and, to our way of thinking, Script-writer Nunnally Johnson has done worse by not having made Jolson, the minstrel man, his hero.

'Ambush' Headines New Beacon Bill

"Ambush," co-starring Gladys Swarthout and Lloyd Nolan, is the top feature on the Beacon screen program. It is the story of a mammoth bank robbery and a young couple innocently involved. The second feature, "Hopalong Cassidy," co-stars William Boyd and George Hayes.

Bowdoin's Program

"Boy Slaves," with Anne Shirley and Alan Baxter, and "Never Say Die," co-starring Bob Hope and Martha Raye, will be the double features on the Bowdoin Square screen, starting tomorrow.

King's Tour of U. S. Mapped in Minutes

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—American communities still cherishing the hope that the King and Queen of England may find time to make them a side visit while in the United States might just as well abandon it.

Not a spare minute is left for the royal pair on the detailed program of their visit released today by the State Department. Where they will stand what they will see has been worked out in such detail that it took a department nine closely typed pages to list the itinerary.

And the minutes have been so carefully allotted that to meet their engagements the King and Queen will have to keep exactly to schedule from the time they cross the border at 9:45 p. m. June 7 until they leave Hyde Park, N. Y. on the 11:45 p. m. return to Canada.

HULL HEADS GROUP

The tour the world will get to the border to meet the royal visitors will be headed by Secretary Hull and Mrs. Hull acting as the British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay.

It will be composed of state department and British embassy officials and the high army and navy officers President Roosevelt has named as military and naval aides to the King. Major General Hugh A. Drum and Rear Admiral James O. Richardson.

Secretary Hull in a press conference today that the sole political purpose of the King's visit to the United States was to improve the friendship between the two countries.

2 DAYS IN CAPITAL

The King and Queen arrive in Washington at 11 a. m. Thursday, June 8. Their stay of two days and one night here will comprise:

The greeting at Union Station by President and Mrs. Roosevelt and an official reception committee; a visit at the White House; sightseeing in Washington; a garden party at the British embassy; a state dinner at the White House followed by a reception and musicale; a reception at the British embassy for members of the British colony; a visit to the Capitol; a visit to the Washington Navy Yard; a trip to Mt. Vernon aboard the presidential yacht Potomac to lay a wreath at Washington's tomb; a visit to the C. C. C. camp at Fort Hunt, Va., laying a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier, Arlington, Va.; tea at the White House; and dinner at the British embassy for the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

From here they will go by train to Bank P. J., then by auto to Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, where they will embark on a destroyer and proceed up the bay to the Battery, New York city, Governor Lehman and Mayor La Guardia will welcome them.

Afterward they will drive through New York city to the World's Fair where they will have luncheon and visit the Canadian, [illegible] pavilions. Later [illegible] visit [illegible] and then [illegible] Hyde Park, arriving at 10 p. m.

On arrival at Island Park the royal coupe was greeted by a 21-gun salute from the artillery of the 1st Field battery of the Royal Canadian Army.

Following presentation of local and Dominion officials the King inspected the guard of honor, the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa and the royal procession formed for the drive to Chateau Laurier.

The Fourth Prince Louise Dragoon Guards gave escort for part of the drive and the escorting unit to be replaced by the Royal Canadian Dragoon Guards.

OFFICIALS PAY HONOR

Immediately behind the royal automobile rode the Queen's aide in waiting, Lady Somerset, and the lord in waiting to the King, the Earl of Ellesmere, and the King's equerry in waiting, Commander Abel-Smith.

The governor-general and his lady rode in the third car of the eight-car procession.

The royal party was taken to Government House, the governor-general's official residence, where most of the day was to be spent.

Audiences to which guests of the nation were bidden were arranged for U. S. Minister Jesse I. Straus and Mrs. Straus, Premier Mackenzie King and Leader of the Opposition Hon. R. J. Manion and Mrs. Manion.

Later in the day Lord Tweedsmuir were to visit the annex to receive the press correspondents, to be followed with tea and after a private dinner.

Apology to Foxx; A New Viewpoint

AUSTEN LAKE

A small heater with a jug of green, viscous fluid and a long nozzle like the suction-post of a vacuum cleaner stood beside his cot and Jimmy sniffed of its hot, acrid vapor. The giant headache and chronic sinus had subsided. The infection which congested his skull had drained. The boiling fever had abated. And stout, biscuit-bodied James was ready to return to his colored woolens and make more Red Sox headlines.

"He was suffering," said the physician, "from mucroid secretions in the frontal sinus and antrum of highmore." But Jimmy, ex-farm boy with a penchant for simplicity, explained, "I had a pain." It was the kind of pain, he said, which made him dizzy when he stopped for ground balls and sometimes spots large as pennies had swum before his eyes and the ball had dissolved like a bursting soap bubble, so that he had to fish for it in empty air. And sometimes when he had run out base-hits his head had felt like a kettle of boiling fat and waves of nausea had swept him so that he had to rest till his big ache diminished to a little ache and finally leaked away.

SO THIS IS WRITTEN BY ME IN THE nature of an apology. For I am one who chivvied Foxx for the way he sometimes sweetheart you-hoos with his porkpie mitt at ground balls. I snowballed him editorially when he played foul flies like a man in a hammock. But I didn't know then, as I do now, that most of his stumblefooted fumblings were due to a head infection which boiled into miasma with sudden shifts of his neck.

To his great credit Foxx took his typographical punishment with-

And right there my friends, you have the answer to the Sox pooping he is in second place instead of finishing out of the money.

JOE KEEPS IMPROVING

USED 3 TIMES THIS WEEK

Last Sunday, in Washington after Grove and then Wilson had faltered in the 11th inning, Heving rushed in to quell the Senators with the tying and winning runs on the sacks.

He was back against the White Sox in Wednesday's game at the Polls. Going in after Jack Wilson had blown the decision in the tenth, he retired the side by getting two batters on a fly and strikeout.

The Grand Stand Manager

I guess I started something by the recent letters printed in the new feature, about Joe Cronin as manager of the Red Sox.

A New Rule

As long as I have been associated with baseball, I've been interested in one thing . . . What a batter does on the next pitch, when he has a three and two count on him.

My observations find that nine out of 10 times the batter hits weakly to pitcher about right and left or short center field, thus being credited with a hit.

So my advice to Cronin, Stengel and other managers is to play [illegible]

Do they remember Dahlgren, Selkirk, Keesom, Eric McNair, all of whom performed well in Boston? A real player of the "Jake Powell" type would add a lot of color to the hopeless mix.

Alvises New Strategy

Word to the wise for Joe Cronin. Don't make the same mistake that other clubs have been making in the past. Leading with your ace [illegible] with power and need no invitation to [illegible] any opportunity given to [illegible] pitchers [illegible] of [illegible] and using second string pitchers as a string to see [illegible] Rich Bagby, Asker, Heving and [illegible] would not only save the aces [illegible] Yanks will get on to win the pennant.

Casey Club Sends White Against Star of the Sea

Dick Casey's club, after sinking the Navy Yard last night, 10-2, in back of Charlie Bird's tossing, will attempt to get another two points in their drive to oust Star of the Sea from first place in the Park League West Division, at Fallon Field in Roslindale tonight, where they will be guests of the Holy Name Club.

One week ago tonight the Stars knocked off the Casey Club and have remained there all week and although idle tonight will still have a one point edge in the standings if Casey comes through against the Fallon Fielders.

Casey will probably throw Sam White at the Namers, while the locals will probably nominate Ashburne.

Bill Benson's St. Augustine Club will have another try at winning a ball game tonight at South Boston stadium when St. Alphonsus pays them a visit. Benson's crew was beaten twice this week by South Boston Townies and in the visiting Rockwarites, no soft touch will be found.

St. Alphonsus has one of the potentially effective ball clubs in the league but lack of cohesion in the defensive department has put them under several times when they had ball games in the bag.

Of local Charlestown twi interest will be the St. Catherine's and Navy Yard battle at Barry Field and the "bluejacketed" drive to jump aboard the win wagon, Curt Fullerton veteran of Park League diamond dramas will probably be assigned to bring that condition about.

In the evening's windup, Lou Stoecker will take his Roslindale Town boys for a visit with the Maurice Murphy Club at Rogers Park in Brighton and with a record of seven straight wins and no defeats Louis crew [illegible] the first time if Jackowski [illegible] get the nod to hurl for the Murphy [illegible]

Cold Water Stops Bass Run on Cape

By DARK MONTREAL

Reports of big striped bass, so far as this department can determine, are somewhat premature. Three real fishermen back from Nauset say they had little luck and attribute it to the late spring and still-cold water on the back side of the Cape.

Dick Hoxie of Andover and Walter Osgood of Methuen fished with Paul Bauer of East Orleans Monday night on Nauset Harbor. They tried Monday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night. They tried Monday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night. They tried Monday night, Tuesday night, Wednesday night out a whimper. The only external sign of irritation was his distant, dignified and aloof manner. So I owe James an editorial raincheck and that's all.

Figure this out yourself. Is he safe or out? He was out, but why? Merrill, pennant-on Harvard freshman team, is run down at first by both Pitcher Avers and First Baseman Sullivan. Perhaps it's tag baseball.

AUSTEN LAKE

Of course he had an incipient sinus condition before coming to Boston in 1906. But our Springtime climate aggravated it. The shifting temperature, the moist chill and the penetrating East wind irritated the membranes in the cranial cavities under and above his eyes and in 1937 his worst year he played in a mental fog. Remember? His eyes, he said, had felt like twin hard boiled eggs. He breathed air that passed through his nasal openings like the cuttings of a key-hole saw. His head balanced like a Hubbard squash. But he played out his contract and kept a smile on his wide face like something painted on an egg.

IN LOOKING BACK TO THAT YEAR one recalls that Jimmy's work seemed to lack the full warmth of his devotion and he was giving somewhat less than his utmost to his adopted city. And the people gave clear audit of their feelings when the metallic voice on the amplifier horns read the Red Sox batting order before the game. They kept a repressive silence when Cramer, McNair, Cooke and Rick Ferrell were announced, and patted an enthusiastic reception for Joe Cronin, Oscar Melillo and Lefty Grove. But when Foxx was announced they set up a faint but plainly audible gulping in a guttural baritone tinge like the honkings of wild geese flying over the autumn moors on their annual southern retreat. They gave James a collective sneer when he struck out in his cheery way. For his is the sort of temperament which doesn't kick up clouds of dust with his cleats or scale his bat into the dugout as a means of partomming his self reproach. He just inverts his hat on such occasions and uses it for a cane, strolling back with his chin ducked with as much blithesome spirit as a Springtime Robin.

So this year I trust will explain much of Foxx's internal chemistry to the uninitiated as my visit with him at St. Elizabeth's has reconstructed my conception of him. In my book from now on he is all right and something over.

Five Start Title Defense In N. E. College Games

DURHAM, N. H., May 19—Some 300 runners and jumpers and weight flingers were ready to spin into action here today in the opening of the two-day New England intercollegiate track and field championships.

Five defending champions were in the field, but a flock of new stars were ready to make the quintet fight all the way, and chances were good that a few records would totter.

Dan Miles of Northeastern in the high jump; Ken Clapp of Brown in the 220-yard low hurdles; Walter Gladding of Rhode Island in the javelin; Don Smith of Maine in the mile, and Prescott Coan of Amherst in the shot were the defending titlists.

The feature of the games was due to be the mile, with Smith expecting a terrific battle against Stan Holt of Rhode Island and Jim Stanton of Holy Cross, place winners last year, and others.

Other ace competitors in the games included Frank Zeimetz of Boston College and Ken Clapp of Brown in the century; Zeimetz in the 220; Charley Pope of Bowdoin and Frank Mascianica of Northeastern in the 440; Stan Holt of R. I. and Jim Stanton of Holy Cross in the 880; Don Smith of Maine and Bill Atkinson of Tufts in the two miles.

In the hurdles heat hots were Roger Moore of Williams in the 120 highs; Moore and Ken Clapp in the lows; Danny Miles of Northeastern in the high jump; Frank Zeimetz of B. C. and Leon Rogers of Wesleyan in the broad jump; Sid Anderson of Connecticut State in the vault; John McLaughlin of Brown in the hammer, Bill Gilligan of B. C. in the hammer and Walter Gladding of Rhode Island and Sherwin Kapstein of Brown in the discus.

Ellis Duo Gain State Net Finals

Virginia Ellis and Mrs. Philip Theopold swept to a two-set victory over Mrs. George W. Wightman and Mrs. Roger Griswold this morning in the semi-final round of the annual women's state tennis doubles at The Country Club, Brookline. The scores were 6-4, 6-3.

Previously, the winning team had triumphed over Emily Lincoln and Katherine Hubbell in the quarter-finals and the Wightman-Griswold team had turned back Mrs. Seth T. Crawford and Mrs. William F. Howe, Jr.

Later in the day Emily Lincoln was to meet Kay Winthrop in the singles finals, while Mrs. Virginia Rice Johnson and Kay Winthrop battle Susy Madden and Dorothy Wightman in the other half of the doubles semi-finals.

Amateur Boxers Busy Tonight

Standout amateur boxing performers trade punches tonight at the Irish-American A. A. headquarters in Broadway, South Boston. The show is being staged to provide funds for the outfitting of a senior and junior baseball team in Sts. Peter and Paul Parish's Catholic Youth organization.

The bouts are open to all registered A. A. U. ringsters, and the entry list includes the following glovemen.

In the 118-pound class, Gene Fournier, Manchester, N. H., John Picarielli, South Boston, and Andrew Trozzi, Stoneham; in the 135-pound class, John Adams, Waltham, Charles Lopes, Taunton, Joe D'Antonio, Milford; in the 147-pound class, Domenic Scavongelli, Boston, Charles Samara, Woburn, Tony Ferlisi, Woburn, Frank S. Horta, Taunton.

A's Announce Night Games, Twin Bills

PHILADELPHIA, May 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics announced today the remaining night games the team will play and a program of double headers necessitated by postponements thus far this year and cancellation of games scheduled for days following the night games.

The Athletics met Cleveland Tuesday night in the first of the seven games.

The remaining night games, with the regularly scheduled game next day cancelled, are:

May 24, Chicago; June 14, St. Louis; June 20, Detroit; June 28, New York; July 5, Washington; August 15, Boston.

Double headers will be played on these dates:

June 18, Chicago; June 25, Cleveland; June 26, New York; July 8, Washington; July 9, Washington; July 30, Detroit; August 6, St. Louis; August 13, New York.

BOSTON ROLLERS TOP HOLLYWOOD

Coming from behind in the closing seconds, Tommy Atkinson of the Boston White Shirts chalked up two points for his team in the Roller Derby at the Arena last night and nosed out Eleanor Powell's Hollywood All Stars by a score of 14 to 11.

Yanks' Donald Joins Prize Rookie List

By International News Service

The amazing number of major league rookies who already have made the grade this season now is causing every manager to cast a speculative eye among his bench warmers.

Perhaps he has an embryonic 20-game pitcher there heading only the opportunity to make good. Or he may have another .300 hitter waiting for a chance to cut loose.

NATS UNCOVER TWO

Dire necessity sometimes forces a manager to take a chance on an untried fledgling.

Take Bucky Harris of the Senators, for example. Two days ago he unveiled an 18-year-old pitcher named Walter Masterson, and the youngster proceeded to let the Tigers down with six hits.

That experiment having panned out so well, Bucky sent another youngster—Alex Alexandra—to the firing line, and he was even more effective as he gave but four hits to land a 3-2 verdict over the Tigers.

Incidentally, it was another Senator rookie, Bobby Estalella, whose homer with one aboard won the game in the ninth.

Joe McCarthy of the Yanks is one of the more cautious pilots who likes to nurse a youngster along for a while, but he'll gamble with one if the need arises.

Such a need arose when he discovered Red Ruffing and Wes Pennell had sore arms, Lefty Gomez a lame shoulder and Oral Hildebrand still suffering from the flu.

YANKS RUNNING AWAY

That situation forced Joe to unveil Atley Donald, a rookie right-hander from Newark, and the result was a six-hit performance against the Browns.

The Yanks winning, 9-3. That made eight in a row for the Yanks, and the fans are beginning to wonder if the race will be over by July 4.

Fellsway Site Of Nature Hike

With the advent of good spring weather, hundreds of Greater Boston folks are taking advantage of the hikes and outdoor sport activities sponsored by the WPA-MDC Division of Recreation.

This Sunday's long hike and nature stroll will take place in the Middlesex Fells Reservation, one of the most popular and interesting areas in the metropolitan districts.

At 11:30 a. m. long hikers will assemble at the MDC police station, Fellsway West, Medford, and at 2:30 p. m. nature strollers will commence their tour from the junction of Fellsway East and East Border road, Malden.

Under th edirection of this project, there will be outings on Saturday for the children at the Sheafold Recreation Grounds for the Boys' Club of Charlestown and members of St. Paul's School, Dorchester, at Houghton's Pond, Milton, the Boys' Club of Roxbury will have a monster field day.

NORD EXPRESS WINS

YORK, England, May 19 (AP)—The Aga Khan's Nord Express, a 10 to 1 shot, won the $5000 Great Northern Stakes for three-year-olds today. M. C. Bingrave's Derby candidate, Afrouf Malfos, was beaten out by a neck. M. Field's Comptroller was third.

ROAD WORK, MARITAL STYLE—Joke to Max Baer but serious situation to 17-months-old Mary Ann Grossinger is Baer's method of training for bout with Lou Nova, June 1. Mary Ann, daughter of Grossinger Lake camp owner, is same age as Maxie Baer, Jr.

Sonnenberg Downs Marvin Westenberg

HARTFORD, Conn., May 19 (AP)—Gus Sonnenberg, 212, Boston, won two out of three falls over Marvin Westenberg, 225, Tacoma, Washington, in a wrestling show here last night.

Hartford B's, In E. L. Cellar, Remodeled

HARTFORD, Conn., May 19 (INS)—Shakeup of the Hartford Bees, mired in the cellar of the Eastern League, was under way today with the announcement by President John Quinn that Johnny Tige, formerly of Beaumont in the Texas League, had been acquired to strengthen the catching department.

Tighe batted .279 in 77 games last year.

At the some time, Quinn announced that Carlton Cheney, right-handed pitcher, had been sent to Selma, Ala., in the Southeastern League on option, and Agapito "Pete" Mayor, Cuban southpaw, had been given his outright release.

The Hartford club a farm of the Boston Bees, is four games out of seventh place in the early going with a record of five wins and fourteen defeats.

Baseball Offsetting Racing Influence

Gamblers Missing From Ball Park

JOE CRONIN drove a screeching three-base hit that even the gifted Steinbacher couldn't get, and two Red Sox runs scored. Steinbacher had previously made a sensational one-handed catch on a terrific drive by Cronin, and temporarily halted the Red Sox drive against the Chicago White Sox.

The Cronin hit brought the crowd to its feet with a roar. Baseball fans still get their greatest thrill out of long hits by the home town heroes, especially when there are men on the bases.

Joe Cashman, who has been writing baseball for these many years, was as enthusiastic as the most ardent fan. I have often felt that the reason Cashman is such a brilliant baseball writer is because he has intense love for the national pastime.

Unless a sports writer has enthusiasm for the events he covers, he seldom does a good job at reporting. We all write best about the things we like.

A telegraph operator mentioned that Perlette had won the fourth race at Suffolk Downs. There was only slight interest in this news in the press box.

I asked Cashman if racing has injured the attendance figures at the ball games.

"They are drawing more people at Red Sox and Bees games with racing at Suffolk Downs than they did before the thoroughbreds came to this state," replied Joe. "I think the fact we now have better ball clubs has helped to offset the competition from racing. The crowds would not be so large as they have been if we had the kind of clubs there were in Boston ten years ago."

Baseball Gamblers Are Missing

I TOOK a look at the first-base pavilion, where the baseball gamblers used to ply their trade. There were only a few of them present.

The gamblers get more action at a horse track than at a ball game. The mutuel machines will always accept their bets, and do not care how large they are provided they are backed up by cash.

Baseball is probably happy there are not so many gamblers at the games as was the case in the days of the Black Sox scandal. It no longer has to concern itself about the sure thing element placing $10,000 under somebody's pillow to make sure a world's series is tossed.

The professional gambler does not help any sport. This is why the Professional Golfers' Association recently ruled that there will not be any bookmaking at its tournament this year. It does not want anybody to be in a position to make the charge that it was more profitable for a player to slice the white agate into the woods rather than to belt it down the center of the fairways.

Baseball is purified without the money it used to receive from the gamblers, who huddled in a group and bet on every play in the game.

Kuhel Has Class at First Base

I LIKED THE way Kuhel of the White Sox stepped around first base. He has the happy faculty of doing everything right when in the field, while he is also a top hitter.

Kuhel has been unfortunate that he has been playing in a league that has a Jimmy Foxx, Lou Gehrig before his collapse also took much of the spotlight away from Kuhel.

"Silent" Jimmy Bagby remarked that Joe Vosmik was quite a hitter, and the Sox left fielder responded by getting a single.

Vosmik lacks some of the color possessed by Foxx and Cronin, but is nevertheless a dead eye Dick when at the bat in a clutch.

I felt a bit sorry for young Ted Williams as he was thrown out a couple of times on weak hits to the infield. One of the Williams taps came with three on base and resulted in a double play.

Williams now realizes Joe Cronin knew what he was talking about when he suggested that he not try to hit the ball out of town.

The pitchers usually catch up on those batters who take too much of a cut at the ball. Williams is still young and has plenty of time in which to correct his glaring batting weakness.

Auker kept tossing submarine balls at the enemy until he was injured in the right foot by a shot from Appling's bat in the eighth inning. He then gave way to Heving. A Red Sox victory was later duly recorded.

For a time this Spring it didn't appear as if Auker, lacking control, was going to be of much value to the Sox. Auker appears to have found himself. His record in previous years indicates he improves as the season progresses.

Auker is what ball players term a hot weather pitcher. Possibly we may have a few warm days in Boston before the Fourth of July.
